WOMEN TO HAVE OTHER SCHOOLS

INSTRUCTION IN MILLINERY CLOSES YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

MEET BIGGEST DEMANDS

Clubs to Report What They Want to County Agent by October 1—Necessary to Know Early.

Members who attended the millinery school held under the direction of Miss Lois Martin, millinery specialist of the agriculture extension division of the University of Missouri, and delegates representing the various women's clubs of the county, discussed the co-ordination of all of the women's clubs of the county for the purpose of bringing home economic specialists to the community to hold schools of instructions, when they met in the office of the farm bureau yesterday afternoon.

Miss Lois Martin, who has been conducting the millinery school for the past four days, explained the different projects which are offered by the extension division and gave the delegates bulletins to take back to their clubs to help in explaining to the other members what it was possible to secure from the University. The delegates will meet with their clubs and decide on the projects which they wish to carry out and then report to Roy A. Kinnaird, county farm agent, before the first of October. When all of the reports are in Mr. Kinnaird will determine which is the most wanted project and will then ask that specialist be sent to this county to conduct a school of instruction in that work.

Mr. Kinnaird talked to the meeting concerning the value of a closer co-operation between the different clubs and pointed out that by having the specialist here for a week it would be cheaper and by planning out a program in advance it will be possible to speak for the specialists in time to have them during the right seasons.

Mrs. John Evans, president of the Rockford Club, spoke of the benefits which their club had derived from specialists. She said that as a result of the dress form demonstration, a number of women have dress forms which they use and which are very useful. Several pressure cookers have been secured as a result of the pressure cooker demonstration held in that community and the women have received many good points in the way of kitchen equipment and arrangement from specialists from the extension division.

Mrs. Claude Moore talked on the need of county organization of women's clubs.

Twenty-two hats were completed during the millinery school, which closed yesterday afternoon. Miss Martin left last night for Omaha. Her next school of instruction will be held in McDonald County, in the southern part of Missouri.

A meeting composed of the following delegates met for a more detailed discussion of the county organization for women's clubs following the general discussion yesterday afternoon: Mrs. Raymond Jones, White Cloud; Mrs. Nora Wells, Worthwhile; Mrs. C. R. Rhodes, Parnell Club; Mrs. A. J. Klaas, Parnell; Mrs. Claude Moore, Rockford; Mrs. W. O. Griffey, Herron Homemakers Circle; Miss Mary Taylor and Mrs. George Masters.

Leaders to the millinery school were: Mrs. Ernest Bainum and Mrs. L. O. Reaksecker, Rockford Community Club; Miss Ella O'Grady and Miss Lorena Gault, Lasher Community Club; Mrs. Bruce Clymens, Worthwhile Club; Mrs. Charles H. Rice and Mrs. Mary Braken, White Cloud Club; Miss Mary Taylor and Mrs. W. O. Griffey, Herron Home Making Circle; Miss Getha Conrad, Parnell Willing Workers; Mrs. Charles Shamberger and Mrs. Charles Epperson, C. C. MORE TEACHERS AT PLAN MEETING

W. A. POWER TAKES PROFESSOR COOPER'S PLACE.

COURTESY IN SCHOOLS

Miss Gertrude Horton Says Train Pupils So They Will Be Benefit to Society.

The second day of the "plan meeting" of the teachers of Nodaway County is in session at the Central High School building today with an increased attendance over the first day. W. A. Power, superintendent of the Quitman schools, presided today over the round table discussion on the course of study which was to have been conducted by Professor Bert Cooper who is ill at the St. Francis hospital. The program was conducted this morning according to schedule with the exceptions of a talk by Gertrude Horton on the subject of training in courtesy in schools which was given this morning instead yesterday.

J. M. Broadbent, Lorean Palmer and Elna Scott took the assembly of teachers to the school yard this morning while they conducted a demonstration in cement work.

Miss Hettie Anthony addressed the teachers on the subject of sewing in which she pointed out the opportunities of teaching life's lessons through sewing. She said that sewing, as sewing, has no place in our schools and that it was going out of vogue but that sewing as an activity to teach life's lesson had a large place. She said that the child's habit of immitating gives the teacher the opportunity to teach a standard and an ideal. She discouraged the idea of a teacher setting up a double standard for boys and girls and said that the making of an apron was as important to the boy as it was to the girl, in as much as it correlated the workings of the hand and the mind and teacher standards, ideals, courtesy, patroitism, citizenship and morals.

Miss Gertrude Horton, in speaking of courtesy in the schools, said that the aim of an education was to so educate the individual so that society as a whole is benefitted by that individual. Courtesy is an important part of tha training and Miss Horton said that there was not any set rule for teaching courtesy. The teacher must grasp the opportunity when it comes even though it is small. She said that the first day of school was the time to begin the training by showing the children the proper way of entering and leaving the school room. She suggested that the teachers teach the children to win in life but that it would be a good lesson to train some of them to be good losers.

Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, complimented Miss Horton on the school which she conducted last year and told of being at her school during the noon hour. When the noon hour came the children arose passed out and washed their hands and faces for their lunch and returned to their seats. Not a single child touched his lunch until they were all ready to eat. Mr. Somerville said that Miss Horton was carrying out her teaching of courtesy in the school room.

Plenty of single rooms are available.

MARYVILLE BOY IN FRISCO R. R. WRECK

RUSKIN HAWKINS WAS ON WAY TO KENNETT, MO.

INJURIES NOT SERIOUS

Four Were Killed and Sixty Injured When Train Went Through Trestle

Ruscin Hawkins, son of Prof. Chas. A. Hawkins of Maryville, was very slightly injured in a Frisco train accident yesterday near St. Louis when a passenger train crashed through a trestle. He received cuts on the head and bruises on the body. He was taken to a hospital at Cape Girardeau where his injuries were attended to.

A message to Prof. Hawkins today from the general manager of the Frisco at Cape Girardeau stated that Mr. Hawkins left there today on his way to Kennett, Mo.

Mr. Hawkins left Maryville Tuesday night for Kennett, where he will teach science in the high school this year. He was on his way when the accident occurred.

The first word received about Mr. Hawkins being injured in the accident was when today's Kansas City Times published a list of the dead and injured. As soon as Prof. Hawkins heard of it, he telegraphed the hospital at Cape Girardeau and also the railroad officials there.

The dispatch in the Times had the following:

Four persons were killed, one a woman, and about sixty injured when St. Louis & San Francisco passenger train No. 805 crashed through a trestle near Wittenberg, thirty-six miles north of here Friday.

While recent heavy rains are said to have weakened the trestle, which was 139 feet long, Frank A. Fenwick, prosecuting attorney of Perry County, stated he was informed section hands had reported the trestle in unsafe condition several months ago, and he would make a thorough investigation. Frisco officials vigorously denied the trestle was unsafe.

Several of the injured were Missouri national guardsmen who have been stationed at Moberly, Mo., on strike duty. None of the dead has been identified. Several of the coaches crashed into a creek, and those killed were passengers in the chair car. The three seriously injured were rushed to the Frisco hospital at St. Louis, one hundred miles from here.

The wreck occurred near the Mississippi River. The locomotive and first baggage car passed over the trestle, but the second baggage car went down into the creek, ten feet below. The second baggage car pulled the third car, a combination mail car and smoker, after it. The locomotive and second baggage car were overturned.

Several members of the train crew walked three miles to Wittenberg and had a telegraph operator notify Chaffee of the accident.

The trestle was built in 1918 and had been inspected recently, it is said.

This was the third wreck in Eastern Missouri in the last month. The others were the Missouri - Pacific wreck at Sulphur Springs, in which thirty-four persons were killed, and the St. Louis & San Francisco wreck at Horine, in which two were killed.

License to marry has been issued in St. Joseph to Willie R. Miller of Sheridan and Miss Alice Comer of Ravenwood.

I. P. H. THE POPULAR ONE TO MINNESOTA

MANY TOURISTS STOP

Book at Park Here Is Rapidly Becoming Filled With Names and Addresses.

"The Itasca Park Highway is to become the most popular road from the south to the Minnesota lakes," said J. G. Dorton, who with his family spent last night in the Tourists' Park. Mr. Dorton said that his business is that of growing potatoes and that he has a farm in the Missouri river bottoms at Orick. He says that he keeps on the job on the farm eleven months out of the year and that during the twelfth month his business is that of a fisherman. But he does not fish for the money that it may bring in, he fishes for the pleasure of it.

Mr. Dorton and a party of men in his community own a tract of seventeen acres on Crooked Lake, near Nevin, Minn. Some of the party are at the lake nearly all summer. This year Mr. Dorton and his family drove up six weeks ago in their Buick touring car. They were on their way back last night and said that they expected to arrive at home about noon today.

"The Itasca Park Highway is the most direct route," said Mr. Dorton. "On the way up I traveled the K. T. Highway. As I came back I followed the Itasca Park Highway and find it better traveling and much more direct. I have traveled the trails to Minnesota for a number of years and am in a position to know a good one when I am on it."

More tourists seem to be stopping at the park now than at any time during the summer. A number of them stop there each night and the register is rapidly becoming filled with names. Two of them who stopped night before last had a new idea regarding equipment for the park. W. D. Hann and wife of Kansas City thought that it was a beautiful ground but suggested that it would be a good idea to erect a shelter for the tourists in case of a rain storm. C. W. Lytle suggested that gas cooking equipment for the park would add considerable to the convenience of those who stop.

Others who have registered at the park during the last two days are James Shelton and wife of Marysville, Kan.; Alva James and wife of Storm Lake, Ia.; Edward Van Buren and family of Fort Worth, Tex.; Sherman Lewis and wife of Elderville, Ill.; Delbert Murray and family of Lincoln, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ross of Des Moines, Ia.; W. A. Richardson and Dot Richardson of Maitland.

E. S. Keck, Jr., of the Automobile Blue Book publishing company, passed through Maryville this morning on the Itasca Park Highway for the purpose of checking the road for use in the book. Mr. Keck has been checking the Missouri roads for the past month. He expects to go as far as Des Moines and then to return to the Eastern part of Missouri.

W. C. Eekery of Conception Junction was transacting business in Maryville this morning. He and his son and daughter, Joseph and Marie, will leave today for Lincoln, Neb., to visit with Mr. Eekery's mother, Mrs. Mary E. Eekery, and attend the Nebraska State Fair. They will make the trip in their motor car.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Curfman and little son, Robert Joseph, returned last night from Fort Collins, Colo., where they motored five weeks ago to visit Mrs. Curfman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Petty.

THREATENS A GENERAL STRIKE

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL OF A. F. L., TO MEET SATURDAY.

INFLAMED AND AROUSED

By Injunction Against Stricking Shopmen—Samuel Gompers Says "Government by Injunction."

Washington, Sept. 2—Inflamed and aroused by the injunction against the striking shopmen, organized labor threatened a nation-wide strike, in answer to what Samuel Gompers bitterly described as "government by injunction."

The executive council of the American federation of labor, representing between three and four million workers, meets here next Saturday in the most momentous gathering in years. The council has not power to call a general strike but being the governing body of the federation its advice usually is taken by the federation.

President Harding, it was declared in an authoritative quarter, is prepared to meet any consequences, political or economic, that may come from the government's action in obtaining a temporary injunction at Chicago yesterday. The government is determined to keep the trains moving. It believes that the injunction is fully justified. The government, it was declared, has done all that it could to bring the strike to an end. Mediation having proved futile and negotiations fruitless, the government will now proceed to fulfill its fully duty in protecting the rights of the public and preventing a break down of transportation.

Any violation of the drastic injunction obtained will be followed by the use of federal troops, it was learned.

Thus, it was stated by government officials, who appeared in court with Attorney General Daugherty when he sought and obtained the most sweeping restraining order ever issued by an American court, the government is ready for direct action to end the widespread violence, destruction of property, and guerilla warfare that has been growing more serious daily with the progress of the strike.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

RESULTS OF THE HOUSE SHORTAGE.

A warning has been issued by the United States Chamber of Commerce, against the tendencies which it feels are threatened by the shortage of houses and the cost of building. It says that the result must be a great deal of cheap and shoddy construction, and that families are being herded together in small spaces and can not live in any desirable manner.

Many houses are being put up now in a cheap way to save expense, that will never last as they should. Even if considerable money is being put into them, they must deteriorate much faster than the old time well built house. People who decide on flimsy construction must figure frequent repairs as a part of the expense, and they must set aside a certain proportion of the original expense as a sinking fund, in anticipation of the deterioration of the building.

After they have made these allowances, they will probably find that a poorly built dwelling is the most expensive in the long run. People who put up houses should take the advice of competent builders and not use material and methods that will prove costly later on.

Many families under present conditions are living in three or four rooms or less, and these rooms often are very small. Of course under present costs many families can afford no more space. It is not desirable for anybody to go into debt for more ample quarters, but the many who are forced to live in small space, should take pains to avert the evils of congested living in some safe and wholesome way.

Poor ventilation is probably the worst danger of such crowding. People living in this way should accustom themselves to having windows open both during summer and winter. If they are chilly, they should wear more clothing and exercise freely. They will find that well ventilated rooms are easier to keep warm. People will not need so much heat if they become used to fresh air and exercise.

THE SPREAD OF EDUCATION

A recent canvass of the occupations of the fathers of 17,265 pupils in public high schools in four typical eastern and western cities shows that 29 per cent of these children came from families where the father was a manual laborer. Only a few more of these students came from professional and business families. Figures like these show how education is being popularized, and the children of the most struggling worker may be at the head of the class.

Some may say that, with this vast body of children from manual worker's families preparing for business positions and skilled trades, few will be left who are willing to do ordinary manual labor. But if high school education is made practical, it should help workers to work more efficiently, so that the industrial product shall increase. Machinery also reduces the demand for manual labor. Any increase of popular intelligence means better government, which always works for improved working and living conditions.

"The man who once most wisely said,
'Be sure you're right, then go ahead,
Might well have added this, to wit:
'Be sure you're wrong before you quit.'"

—Impressions.

Straw hats will soon be ripe enough to gather in.

Some folks fall in love at first sight and some don't even look first.

What of the days when "aw come off" and "quit yer kidden" were considered a sufficient answer to most anything.

A lot of people take up so much time worrying about what is going to happen in the future that they don't have time to get any satisfaction out of the present.

A community cow, rented out at $1 a week to families in the congregation who have children, is the property of the Church-by-the-Side-of-the-Road in Greensboro, North Carolina The proceeds realized from this rental are being saved to buy other cows and eventually there will be a community herd to supply milk in large quantities for all the children in the congregation.

Politics surely makes strange bed fellows. Senator Lodge is endorsing Alvan Tufts Fuller for Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts. It has not been long since Fuller referred to Lodge as "a blood drinker" and "a senile whelp." And Senator Lodge is the dignified, scholarly, cold power of the United States Senate. What must be the distinguished senator's position is Massachusetts?

Secretary Hoover estimates that 17,000,000 tons of coal per week will be necessary to supply the needs of consumers during the next six weeks. This of course means that the railroads will be called upon to have 17,000,000 tons of coal per week during this time. The highest record of continuous coal movement is said to be 13,500,000 tons a week when there was no strike to interfere with capacity operations. It would thus seem that the coal distributing machinery will have a considerable job on hands.

Henry Ford has shut down his vast manufacturing plants rather than submit to paying an exorbitant price for coal demanded by coal brokers. Mr. Ford can better afford to shut down than most business men and, it may be that the general depression has affected the sale of cars to the extent that he finds himself making them faster than he is selling them. In this case, he would eventually have to shut down anyway unless general conditions soon became normal. If this condition spreads and other large industries shut down there will not be the demand for coal that was expected and the purpose of the profiteers will be defeated in that alone.

MISS TURNER SAYS IS MISUNDERSTANDING OF LAW

Makes Explaination regarding sections 2 and 3, which pertain to Vocational Training

Miss Betty Turner, executive secretary of the Nodaway County Chapter of the American Red Cross, says that a misunderstanding has come regarding sections 2 and 3 of the law providing vocational training for men injured in the World War and has asked that the following regarding the sections be published:

Section 2 Training

What Section 2 Training Includes—Section 2 training, which may be either institutional or job training, entitles the trainee to maintenance for himself and dependents. His tuition also is paid and he is provided with such supplies as are required in order to pursue successfully his course of training.

Claimant must have a disability which was incured, increased or aggravated while in service. It is not necessary to obtain a compensation award in order to obtain Section 2 training. A man may obtain Section 2 training even though compensation has been refused.

Claimant's disability must be such as to cause him to be in need of vocational rehabilitation to overcome the handicap of his disability (A vocational handicap is a condition which prevents a man from returning to employment or prevents him from competing successfully with the normal worker)—He may have a physical disability which does not affect his ability to return to his former occupation; in such a case he would not be entitled to Section 2 training, although he might receive training under Section 3.

In every case the existence of a vocational handicap must be determined by a medical examination and the personal an occupational history of the man.

Compensation Suspended During Traing Maintenance and support payments take the place of compensation. On the date a trainee enters training any compensation which he receives under the War Risk Insurance Law is discontinued. In case, however, the amount of compensation to which he is entitled is greater than his maintenance support allowance, he will continue to receive the amount which will make the total payments equal to the full amount of compensation. Such checks will be received by the trainee twice a month.

At the conclusion of training, the trainee will submit to a physical examination by a U. S. Veterans' Bureau examiner to determine the degree of his disability. He will then receive compensation according to the medical rating of the examination.

Section 3 Training

What Section 3 Training Includes—Training under Section 3 of the Law includes provision for tuition, books laboratory fees, and other benefits, but does not include maintenance allowance. Men in training under Section 3 continue to receive all compensation payments awarded them by the Bureau.

Broadly speaking, any offer under Section 2 may be given under Section 3 without maintenance. This section of the law opens up opportunities particularly to men who want correspondence courses, to men who can arrange to attend night schools, if their tuition and books are provided.

Eligibility to Section 3 Training—All persons entitled to a compensation award and not eligible for training under Section 2 of the Act, may receive training under Section 3 of the Act, whether the man has been disabled under circumstances entitleing him to compensation.

USED BY ST. PAUL MAN IN MAKING STATUES

Geo. L. Burr, Formerly of Maryville, Invents Device to Sensitize Bust by Means of Negative.

A St. Paul, Minn., paper had the following about George L. Burr, formerly a resident of Maryville:

Sculptors soon may be able to give their statuary the same definition as the photographer obtains in a photographic reproduction of any object.

George L. Burr, 625 Wabasha St., has invented a device which will, he asserts, make it possible for a sculptor to sensitize a bust or statue much as photographic paper is sensitized and then project on to this bust, as it is slowly turned on a spindle, the photographic image of the object of which the statue is a likeness.

The entire process involves both photography and sculpture.

After the sculptor has made a statue or bust of the person or thing desired he places the model before a camera which is revolved around the model, giving details from all sides.

The long negative obtained in this way will be placed in a special projector, much like a photographic enlarging machine, and the image projected on to the sensitized bust as the projector revolves around it. The process will be very similar to photographic printing or enlarging.

Mr. Burr has applied for a patent on the invention and expects soon to be granted patent rights.

Mr. Burr has called the device the "Statupho."

"They are coming a little strong this month," Gengenbach said, "but it's all right. I regard it as a good investment, to say nothing of the satisfaction afforded by real practical welfare work. I have been more than repaid by the loyalty and faithful service of the negroes on my place."

GUEST AT THE KUCHS HOME IS A GREAT HIKIR

Has Used His Legs to Take Him Twice Across the North American Continent.

Charles D. Parker of the Chicago Tribune, who arrived yesterday afternoon for a visit with his aunt, Mrs. Richard Kuchs, and the Kuchs family has been twice across the North American Continent traveling afoot with the exception of such motor car rides as he was able to pick up. This is the method of traveling he used in getting to Maryville with the exception of a train ride as far as Clinton, Ia., and another from Stanberry here. The trip from Clinton, Ia., to Stanberry required two days.

Mr. Parker got his idea for traveling about during the war when as a university student of Chicago he went with about eighty others into Wyoming to lay track for the C. B. & Q. railroad, in response to the call for men to take the place of those who were serving in the army. He said that he saw from that trip that he would like to travel and that he has tried it considerable since.

Mr. Parker's first foot venture was from Chicago to New York. It was three years ago. He made the trip all the way to New York in eight days and the trip back took seven days.

The next year he undertook a bigger job and set out for San Francisco, after he had traveled on the train to Clinton, Ia. He goes on the train to Clinton as he can hit the Lincoln Highway at that point.

It took twenty-eight days to make the trip to San Francisco and twenty-three days to get back.

Mr. Parker will leave in the morning for St. Joseph. From there he will go to Troy, Kan., and to Atchison for short visits and then to Kansas City. From Kansas City he will start back to Chicago, traveling in his usual way. He says that he will allow himself five days for the trip from Kansas City to the big windy city.

Mr. Parker will enter the school of medicine of the University of Chicago this fall.

Mr. Parker is a cousin of Mrs. J. L. Kraft of Maryville.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO VOTE ON CHECK ISSUE

Committee Believes That a Par Remittance Should Be Made Universal.

As one of the 1,400 business organizations making up the membership of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the Maryville Chamber of Commerce is preparing to vote on the question as to whether the collection of checks at par should be made universal throughout the country.

The referendum is based upon a report made to the National Chamber by a special committee which made an exhaustive study of every phase of this question. In the opinion of the committee, the practice of certain banks in making a charge usually 1/8 to 1-10 of 1 per cent in remitting to their reserve bank in payment of checks drawn upon them by their depositors should be discountinued and par remittance be made universal.

In its investigation the committee found that not only the 9,726 member banks in the reserve system were remitting at par but also 18,792 non-member banks, whereas the number of non-member banks not remitting at par was 1,932.

The members of the committee were:

Granger A. Hollister, chairman, manufacturer and banker, of Rochester.

George E. Barnett, economist, of Baltimore, professor in John Hopkins University.

Ralph E. Heilman, economist of Chicago, dean of the school of commerce, northwestern University.

J. S. McCulloch, banker of Philadelphia.

F. H. Montgomery, manufacturer of Brooklyn.

J. H. Scales, wholesale merchant of Louisville.

Joseph B. Shea, merchant of Pittsburgh.

Captain Charles H. Teal, merchant and planter, of Colfax, Louisiana.

Robert H. Treman, banker and manfacturer, of Ithaca, New York.

There was one other member on the committee, James S. Peters, a banker of Manchester, Georgia. Mr. Peters dissented from the views of the other members.

MADE ENEMIES BY HIS PEN

Voltaire, Great French Writer, Twice Sent to the Bastille for Attacks on Government.

Jean Francois Marie Arouet, who is better known by his assumed name of Voltaire, owed much of his grace in society to the celebrated French courtesan, Ninon de L'Enclos. He was also indebted to her for a substantial legacy which was his upon her death.

Voltaire early came into conflict with the government and it was his pen which got him into the predicament, it is recorded. Louis XIV had died and the duke of Orleans was appointed regent during the minority of the young successor to the throne. Voltaire improved the opportunity to write a sarcastic piece about the regent, and for his trouble he was arrested and thrown into the Bastille. On his release his play "Oedipe" was produced and soon after governmental quarrels landed the man of letters in the Bastille again.

On his second release from prison Voltaire journeyed to England. Upon his return he devoted himself to writing and to commercial pursuits, which enabled him to live in ease the remainder of his life.

As the years passed Voltaire became bitter in his attacks upon the church and he became thoroughly hated by the clergy. When he died in 1778 the cure of St. Sulpice refused him burial.

HELD RED MEN AS SLAVES

Puritans Had No Scruples in Thus Employing the Enemies They Captured in Battle.

The Indian captives in early Massachusetts wars were divided in lots and assigned to housekeepers. Even the gentle Roger Williams once wrote for "one of the drove of Adam's degenerate seed" to serve as his slave.

Rev. Peter Thatcher of Milton, Mass., bought an Indian in 1673 for £5 down and £5 more at the end of the year—a high-priced servant for the times. One of her duties was to take care of the Thatcher infant. Shortly after the purchase, the reverend gentleman made this entry in his diary:

"Came home and found my Indian girl had liked to have knocked my Theodorah on the head by letting her fall. Whereupon I took a good walnut stick and beat the Indian to purpose till she promised to do so no more."

The Puritans sold Indian captives as slaves to the West Indies. King Philip's wife and child were thus sold and died there. Their story was told in scathing language by Edward Everett.

Economic Ingenuity.

An English Jew, successful in a business deal in New York, wrote the following message to his wife: "Business successful: £3,000 profit; sail tomorrow on the Majestic. Arrive Liverpool 25th; home early same evening. Your loving husband, JACOB."

Jacob, however, was appalled when he found the cost per word and set at work to reduce the length of the message. He reasoned as follows: Rachel would notice that the cable was from New York and, having no friends there, would know it must be from Jacob. She would know, too, that he would not cable unless he had been successful. She would remember that he had expected to make £3,000. She would guess that he would take the first boat and that she could identify that from the shipping office. Finally she would think there was something wrong if he was not her "loving husband." So in the end Jacob's telegram consisted of Rachel's name and address only.—Chicago Daily News.

MARYVILLE BANK BUYS SEED WHEAT

TRUST COMPANY TO HAVE IT SOWN ON THREE FARMS

PURCHASE FROM COLLEGE

Like It Because It Produced a Plump Grain And Because It Sells Well On Market

The Farmers Trust Company has purchased 125 bushels of Kanred wheat, which was grown on the fields at the State Teachers College, and will distribute the seed to William Sturn, Frank Roney and Frank Daken to be sown on their farms. S. H. Kemp of the Farmers Trust Company said today that they had investigated the wheat and found that the Kanred wheat was better adapted to this county than any other wheat which has been grown here. He said that their conclusion had been drawn after considering the wheat from the stand point of yield and quality. The Kanred wheat he said, has a more plump grain and that it brings on an average of from 2 to 5 cents more on the market than wheat grown in this territory.

This variety of wheat has been grown in Nodaway County about three years and has been one of the experiments on the State Teachers' College fields. The seed was purchased from the College Mr. Kemp said, because it was grown under conditions there which keeps it as free from other seed as possible.

Mr. Sturm will sow thirty acres of ground with the wheat furnished by the trust company. His field is located about two miles south of Maryville. The field which will be sown with the wheat was in sod two years ago. Last year it grew corn and this year it was sown in wheat. The wheat on this field this year averaged twenty-four bushels to the acre.

The field which Mr. Roney will sow with the wheat is located five miles southwest of Maryville and proceding this year it grew corn one year followed by wheat one year. This year it grew wheat but it was not harvested. The wheat was sown early last fall in the corn rows and was infested with the Hessian fly. Mr. Kemp said that they were going to insist on men observing the fly free dates and not sow their wheat until after October 1.

Mr. Daken, in the Rockford neighborhood, will sow forty acres of the Kanred wheat. The field was sown in wheat this year and yielded tweney bushels to the acre.

It is the plan to not use any fertil with the Kanred wheat. W. W. Stanfield of the State Teachers' College said that he had experimented by sowing four, five and six pecks of the seed to the acre and had found that the five peck sowing made the best yield. The 125 bushels which the Farmers Trust Company has bought will be sown on 100 acres thus making the sowing of five pecks to the acre.

JOHN T. YATES SERIOUSLY INJURED BY TRACTOR

Was Found Under the Plow Yesterday Morning—Is at St. Francis Hospital

John T. Yates was seriously injured at his farm a mile and a half southwest of Maryville shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning when in some way he was knocked down by his tractor and plow while he was in the field breaking ground for his wheat crop. His right shoulder was dislocated, some deep gashes were made in his thigh and his knee was badly hurt, but no bones were broken.

A man was passing the road at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning near where Mr. Yates had been at work. He heard Mr. Yates calling for help. He went to the farm of Andrew Wood. Mr. Wood got his motor car and went to Mr. Yates assistance, taking him to his home. In the afternoon he was taken to the St. Francis Hospital, where an X-ray was taken and where it is said he is resting well today.

When Mr. Wood found Mr. Yates he was lying under the plow. Mr. Yates said that the accident was due to a mistake he had made in the operation of the machine. It is believed that he got off the tractor while the engine was running and allowed it to go into gear, moving foreward enough to knock him down and pull the plow onto him before the engine was killed.

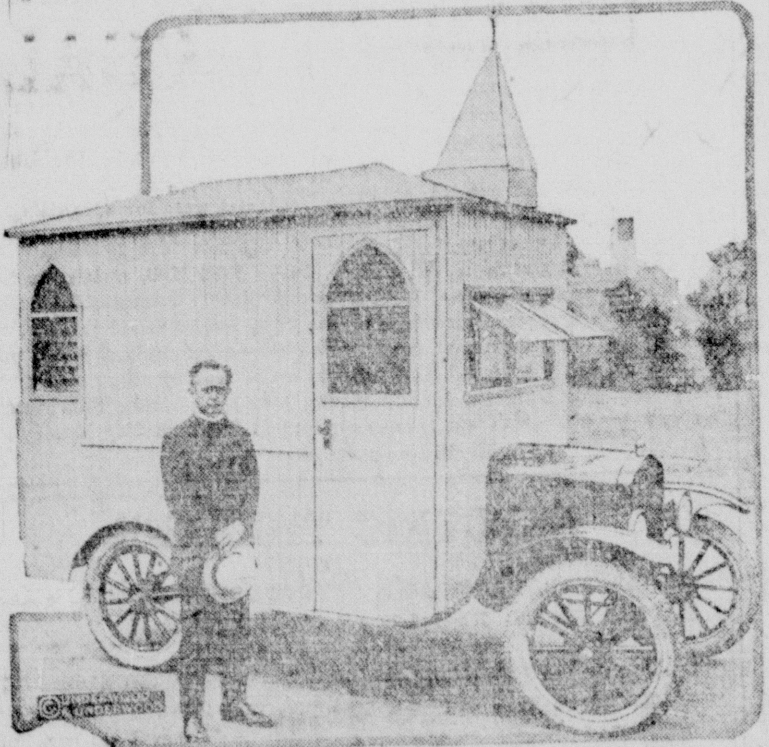
Christy Visits Old Folks Once Again

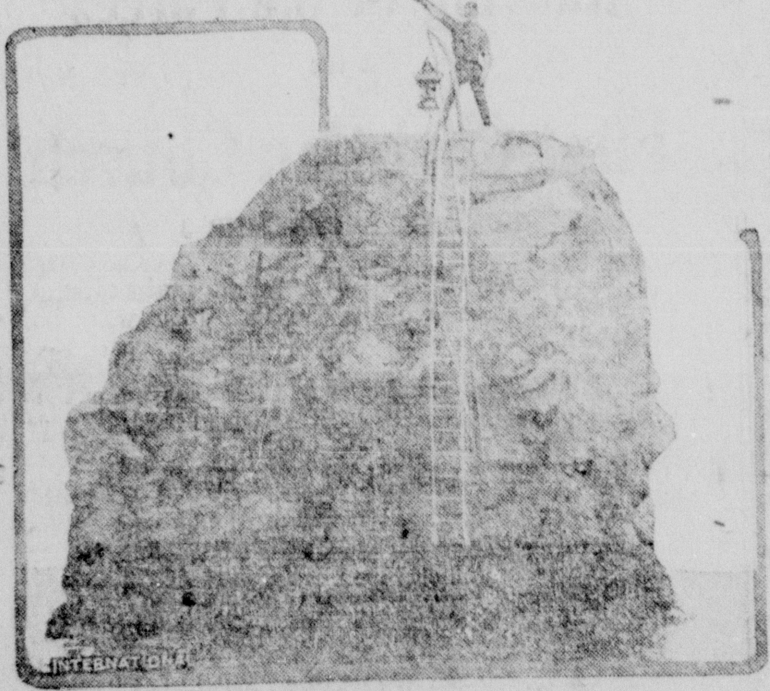
For the first time in over two years Christy Mathewson, "Big Six," recently went to see the folks at his old home in Factoryville, Pa., from Saranac Lake, N. Y., where he has been fighting tuberculosis. Matty has played the game and won; during the past five months he has been steadily gaining weight and at present weighs 205 pounds. This remarkable photograph shows Christy with his mother and father on the porch of their home in Factoryville.

Traveling Chapel With Real Steeple



Rev. Branford Clarke, New York's famous "poet-painter-preacher," has prepared to take Scripture literally and obey the injunction, "Go ye into the highways." He has caused to be built a tiny "traveling chapel," steeple and all. He started out by trundling his church along Broadway, stopping and preaching to the crowd from his perambulatory pulpit. The chapel contains a small organ, which Mrs. Clarke plays. The steeple folds down when he wants to put the car in a garage.

Does This Rock Look Like Mr. Bryan?



Pillar Rock, which is 20 miles above the mouth of the Columbia river between the states of Oregon and Washington, has just been made an aid to navigation by the installation of a beacon light. If you will study the rock you will see that it resembles the face of a man. Folks in Oregon liken this face to that of William Jennings Bryan.

HUFF TRIAL AT HARLAN, IOWA, IN NOVEMBER

Change of Venue Granted From Page County, Ia., by Judge Cullison

From Clarinda Herald)

The trial of Walter and George Huff, charged with complicity of the robbery of old man Kramer east of Shambaugh, will not be held in Clarinda.

Judge George W. Cullison made it his first order of business Tuesday, when court convened, following the empaneling and instructing of the grand jury, to pass on the motion the defendants had entered to have a change of venue from this county.

The trial will be held early in November in Harlan, and Judge Cullison will be the one to hear the case. A Shelby County jury will pass upon the evidence and decide as to whether the defendants are guilty as charged.

When the Huff case was called, attorneys Mitchell and Anderson for the state first entered a resistance to the petition the defendants had formerly filed for change of venue. The resistance started with a petition of 21 men resident in College Springs and other parts of the county, each stating that they believed a fair impartion trial would be had in this Co. and much expense saved the county in the prosecution here instead of transporting witnesses and attorneys to another place of trial. The defense set up further claim of insufficiency of the former petition, in that all the residents came from the town of College Springs, the home town of the defendants, and that the petition did not fairly represent the best judgment of the community nor indicate that justice would fail to be done.

Judge Cullison did not care to consider petitions no arguments. He had conferred with attorneys on both sides and had his mind made up. He stated that this was a heinous crime which had been committed. An old man had been bound and robbed in his farm home. The mere recital of such a story in the community where it was committed would cause the news to be carried from mouth to mouth. In this case a public trial was held of another man charged with the same offense who has been sent to the penitentiary. This makes it the more difficult to have a fair and impartial trial, which everyone desires. The Judge thus granted the motion to have the place of the trial changed.

On the question of where to have the trial. Fremont and Montgomery counties are barred for the same reason as Page County. The Judge said he hesitated about trying the case in Pottawatamie County, for while Council Bluffs has many good citizens, some bad ones also live in a city of that size, and he would not care to have the jury chosen from among the Council Bluffs voters in a case of this kind. Mills is close to Pottawatamie. That leaves two counties remaining in the district. This case should have speedy trial, since one of the state's main witnesses is a very old man. Trial of the case should be hastened. If taken to Harlan (Shelby County District Court) Judge Cullison could have the trial take place early in November, he said, as court meets October 24th in which he is to preside, with equity trials the first week. He therefore set Shelby County and the October term of court as the time and place for trail of Walter and George Huff.

Calling the names of attorneys Hess and Mitchell, both men stood up and in answer to the Judge's inquiry stated that they would be prepared to try the case early in November. No exact time was set nor was an assignment made, but it was understood that this program be followed. It was not decided whether to try the two men separately.

This change of venue makes the case considerably more expensive to the county. Not only will the county attorney receive extra pay out of the county, but the expense of transporting witnesses and their expense while there, besides the extra time consumed in going and coming. Eighty-six witnesses signed the witness book in the trial of Elmer Hamilton in June, fifty-six for the defense. It is likely the number will be more rather than less in the next trial of the Huffs. The trial of the Hickmans at Atlantic was an expensive one, with not anything like the number of witnesses required in the Hamilton-Huff trials.

RUNAWAY BOY TIRES OF LIVING WITHOUT FUNDS

(From Burlington Junction Post)

Joseph Proper, fifteen years of age, has found that life on the road, without funds, is not very pleasant. He left his home at Albany on Monday of last week, in company with Lawrence Seet, fourteen, enroute to the Ozarks to follow the life of a trapper. Changing their plans, the boys went to St. Joseph, and Tuesday evening arrived in Burlington Junction without funds. Yesterday morning the Proper boy appealed for help here, but the Seet lad decided that he had not had enough adventure, and went south, walking along the Burlington track.

Relatives in Albany were communicated with, and last night E. E. Seet, father of the Seet boy, and F. L. McGee, guardian of Proper, arrived in Burlington Junction. The Seet boy was found in Skidmore, and both lads expressed themselves this morning as ready to go home and stay. They left for Albany, with Mr. Seet and Mr. McGee, on the morning train.

CHRIST'S TEACHING NOT ABOUT HANGING MAN

W. E. Robb, Preacher-Sheriff, Who Spoke Here, Faces An Unpleasant Task

Des Moines, Sept. 1. — "Christ's teachings say nothing about hanging a fellow being and I had either to give up my pastorate or refuse to do my duty as sheriff of Polk County. I have given up my pastorate because I believe the law should be enforced."

This is the reason given by Winfred E. Robb, Des Moines's fighting preacher-sheriff, for resigning from active preaching of the gospel.

Robb will press the button that will spring the trap for Harry Weeks, convicted murderer, at Ft. Madison prison September 5. Under the Iowa law he will be required to take twelve citizens of the county to witness the hanging. In recruiting these men he has referred to the hanging as "a little necktie party," but he has admitted spending many sleepless nights before he decided to "go against Christ's teachings by snuffing out a man's life."

"Being a sheriff is the worst job I ever tackled and I wouldn't do it again' he declared. "I have tried to enforce the law for two years. It has been a thankless job. I will go ahead and hang Harry Weeks because it is part of my duty. I swore to carry out the law and I'll live up to it, but the task sickens me."

Robb is a veteran of the world war. Sheriff Robb was brought here this spring by the Christian Church and spoke at the Empire Theatre.

$2 BILL JINX PUT HIM IN JAIL, SAYS YOUTH

New York, Sept. 2.—Others may scoff at "jinxes," but not fifteen year old Erick McDonald, a negro boy, living at No. 54 West Ninety-ninth street. Erick was taken to the Children's Society after he had been arrested, according to the police, in the act of burglarizing the show cases in front of the Big Store, at No. 308 Sixth avenue. The boy passed the store and noticed about a dozen $2 bills pasted on the inside of a show case to advertise a sale. The police say he returned and with a penknife cut the putty from a glass panel, and with five of the $2 on the glass started away. Patrolman Frank Nau saw him working at the show case.

"I certainly enjoyed the nap" we thought we heard a moth say as it slid off our overcoat hanging in the closet the other day.

The Straight Line

WHEN a railroad is constructed from one town to another engineers strive to make the line as straight as possible. Because a straight route is shortest, quickest and least costly.

Business furnishes a parallel case—the line between the man who makes something and the man who wants something.

Advertising provides a short cut between the manufacturer and you. Advertisements make it possible to tell you in a few minutes all you want to know about the services or articles you need.

A glance through this paper enables you to sift out the things that interest you, and in a moment you know just where and when to go for what you want.

HAS SERVED LONG

Edward Dunn entered the government service in 1867 as a mounted messenger under Secretary of War Stanton. After 55 years' service he was relieved August 20. His co-workers presented him with a purse filled with gold, which was handed to him by Secretary Weeks.

England's Star Chamber.

The Star chamber was a tribunal in England consisting of a committee of the king's privy council, instituted or revived by Henry VII in 1486. It had extensive powers and held itself unfettered by rules of law, dealt with civil and criminal cases without the intervention of a jury, and could inflict any form of punishment short of death. It was abolished by parliament in 1641, during the reign of Charles I. The court is said to have derived its name either from the gilt stars that adorned the ceiling of the chamber in the old palace at Westminster, where it held its sessions, or, as is more probable, from the Jewish bonds (stars) deposited there by permission of William I.

Hopkins Journal.

Bud Grimes and family expect to leave Friday of this week for their new home near Akron, Colo., where Bud and his son Forest, who has been in the west a couple of years, will operate a 320 acre farm.

John Northover, for many years a resident of Hopkins and at one time section foreman for the Burlington, died Aug. 18, at the general hospital in Tacoma, Washington, following a short illness.

Hiram Caudle exhibited an apple on the streets Thursday that he considers the largest apple ever produced in Nodaway county—an apple secured from the young orchard of C. E. Caudle, southeast of Hopkins—a Wolf River apple measuring 15 inches around and weighing one pound and three ounces.

Ted Rusk returned last week from a sojourn in St. Louis. He will return to that city Sept. 14 to resume his studies as an accountant in the government vocational school.

The Farmers Union of Hopkins seems to be prospering, finding it necessary to have a room in which to store, flour and feed and other stuff handled by the association. This week the association bought the Marlatt property in the south part of town of the heirs, Mrs. Chas. Evans, of this city, and Mrs. Chas. Marlatt, of Oklahoma, the price paid being $2,000. Henry O'Bannon sold Monday his farm consisting of 200 acres to John and Fred Shanks.

Friends here will regret to learn of the death of Miss Josie Sweeney, who died in a Kansas City hospital, Thursday, Aug. 24. Miss Sweeney was born on the Sweeney homestead, north of Ravenwood, 34 years ago, grew to womanhood and resided here until a few years ago when she, with her brothers and sisters, moved to St Joseph. She was a successful school teacher but for some time had been in declining health.

Rev. John H. Hubbard left Tuesday morning for Moberly Mo., via the Wabash, where annual conference is in session this week. Rev. Hubbard preached his farewell sermon Sunday evening. We deeply deplore the physical condition that Rev. Hubbard has undergone the past six months which made it impossible for him to fill his pulpit personally, but at most all times he supplied a man of good talent and ability to act in his stead. Physicians speak encouragingly of Rev. Hubbard's improvement and at this time see no reason why he cannot take a charge the coming year.

Al Fitzhugh of Logan, Kans., arrived here Friday and is the guest of his cousins, William and Henry O'Bannon. This is the first time Mr. Fitzhugh had seen the O'Bannon's for fifty years.

Mr. Dunning's host of friends in Bedford hope for the best and that he will soon be restored to health and back among his friends soon.—Bedford Times-Republican.

Crockett Has Apple Story Too

Ursle Crockett at his home at 422 East Jenkins street has an apple story that he believes will beat most of those that have been printed this year. But Ursle's story it not that of a mammoth yield. His tree had one lone apple on it and this one fell off before it got ripe. The remarkable part about the tree is that it is in bloom again now. So maybe there will be a chance for a big crop yet.

NATION IS ON SOLID BASIS

WIDESPREAD LABOR TROUBLES NOW GREATEST OBSTACLE

CROP OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Practically Every Industry Not Materially Affected by Strikes Bettering 1921 Mark

Economically, the nation rests today upon a firm foundation. Slowly but surely, progress is being made toward completion of the reconstructed business edifice. Opposing and hampering this work are the widespread labor troubles, constituting just now the greatest obstacle to attainment of the goal.

At this writing, with the partial settlement of the coal strike, and the possibility also that soon there may be a general resumption of work in the mines all over the country, the public is well justified in looking for distinct improvement. The railroad situation, on the other hand, remains as it was; a few days may bring about pronounced changes, but for the moment no forecasts are in order.

The brightest spot on the horizon is the crop outlook. Barring some catastrophe, 1922 is destined to rank high in agricultural production. Of nineteen leading crops, the government estimate of August 1, suggests larger yields than last year in the case of fourteen. Twelve are expected to show better totals than the five year average, 1916-1920, and for twelve the prospect has improved since July 1. So far, August weather conditions have been fairly good, and while some crops have suffered over limited areas, the general outlook has probably deteriorated little, if at all.

The wheat crop is not unusually large, but it is satisfactory. In the Northwest it will be better than it has been for several years. Another bumper yield of corn is very likely; the critical growing period is about over, and one more general rain will probably suffice to assure the outcome. Cotton prospects are better than was hoped for; dry weather has done some damage but has helped hold the boll weevil in check; the crop is now expected to exceed 11,000,000 bales. Enormous yields of apples and peaches are practically certain, the outlook in the St. Louis district being especially good. Tobacco, potatoes and hay will be unusually large crops, while oats are making only a fair showing.

The country's leading mail order and ten cent store concerns continue to make better records than for the corresponding period in 1921. We have yet to find concrete evidence of improvement on department store sales. The latest available data, from the Federal Reserve Board, do indicate betterment in some districts, but none for the United States as a whole.

The iron and steel industry has been affected materially by existing labor troubles.

Hardwood lumber is in fair demand, and the most recent figures available show orders for Southern pine the heaviest in over two months.

Building shows a seasonal decline; July activity, measured by expenditures authorized, was appreciably less than June, but according to perliminary figures announced by Bradstreet, 39 per cent over July of last year. In parts of the West and South, July was a better month than June, and from 85 to 108 per cent above July, 1921.

LAWYER FINED $10 FOR CONTEMPT, ASKS RAISE: JUDGE MAKES IT FIFTY

Del Norte, Col., Sept. 2.—Attorney Jess Stephenson and District Judge Wiley engaged in a "judicial poker game" here that proved expensive for the attorney.

"Mr. Stephenson, you are fined $10 for contempt of court," announced Judge Wiley, after a heated conversation during the course of a trial.

"Your Honor, I suggest that you make it $20," retorted Stephenson.

"Mr. Stephenson, you are fined $20 for contempt of court," respond the court.

"Your Honor, I further suggest that you double it," said Stephenson.

"Mr. Stephenson, I call your suggestion and tilt the pot $10 more, making a total of $50 fine for contempt of this court," the judge declared, and the "judicial poker hand" was closed with the payment of the fine by Stephenson.

Wallace Raised 22 lb. Muskmelon

Levi Wallace at his farm in the One Hundred and Two River bottoms northeast of Maryville says that he believes that he is entitled to the blue ribbon this year for raising a large muskmelon. He pulled one from his patch the other day that weighed 22 pounds and which measured 37½ inches around.

Church, South. Mr. Snyder is with the Gillam, Bellows & Pierce firm. They have gone to housekeeping in their new residence in east Maryville.

There was some frost Wednesday night, nipping garden vegetables, but not hurting corn, we think.

Last Saturday was a typical spring day—one moment it would be raining "like cats fighting," as one expressed it, and the next moment the sky would be clear. This order was kept up all day. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon not a cloud was visible, and at 7:30 one of the hardest rains of the season fell in Maryville. It was queer weather.

SANFORD W. JONES HAS BIG FRUIT HARVEST

Pickering Farmer Is Now Harvesting His Grapes and He Has Many Plums Yet

Sanford W. Jones, at his farm a mile south of Pickering, is in the midst of a big fruit harvest. He has been at this business a good deal of the time this summer for he has a considerable number of trees of most all the fruits that grow in this part of the country. Just at present the crop that he is working most on is the grapes. He has some nice Concords and is selling them out at the farm.

Another crop that has caused an especially large amount of work because of the big yield is the plums. A part of them have been picked but the blue plums are still on the trees. Mr. Jones has 200 or 300 plum trees.

Miller Buys Oleson Farm

Thomas Miller bought the farm of Mrs. Emma Oleson two and a half miles northeast of Guilford Thursday. The consideration was $18,000 for which Mrs. Oleson took the Maryville property of Mr. Miller on South Vine street for the sum of $8,000. The deal was made through John Porter and J. W. Herndon.

The Name 'Missouri' Means 'Wooden Canoe' And Not 'Muddy Water.'

Did you ever wonder where Missouri got its name?—The following, reprinted from the Boonville, Mo., Democrat of October 22, 1897, at the time Col. William F. Switzler was the editor, explains it:

Among certain classes of thinkers, historians and writers there has always existed some controversy repeting the meaning of the word "Missouri" and the proper or proferable pronunciation. * * * Quite a large number of our historians and newpaper writers have taught the pople to believe that the word "Missouri" as applied to our great river means "muddy water."

We are well persuaded this is an error, the history of which may be thus briefly stated: After the discovery of the Upper or Northern Mississippi River by Marquitte and Joilet at the mouth of the Wisconsin on June 17, 1673, these two explorers called the great river which stretched away hundreds of miles south to an unknown sea, "Concention." Surrendering their frail bark canoe to the swift current of the broad river now known in all languages at the Mississippi, they descended to the mouth of the Illinois, and then to the mouth of the Missouri, which Marquette named "Pe kit-a-noni," an Indian name which means, "muddy water." To this fact we think, can be reasonably referred the popular error that "Missouri" means "muddy water."

The name given the river by Marquette prevailed until Marest's time (1712) when it was called "Missouri" from the fact that a tribe of Indians known as "Missouris" inhabited the country at the river's mouth, the same probably now embraced within the limits of St. Louis County.

Missouri does not and never did properly mean "muddy water," but "Wooden Canoe." It belongs to the Illinois dialect of the Algonquin Indian language, the language which was generally spoken (as maintained by many historians) by the various aboriginal tribes between the Mississippi River and Delaware Bay. Discussing this subject some years ago, the Brooklyn Eagle maintained that it is not very difficult to gather support for the definition and derivation of the word Missouri. Among the Indians of Maine a boat or canoe was called "A ma-Sui." With the Narragansetts it was "Me-shu-e;" with the Delawares it was "Ma-sho-la;" with the Miamis about Lake Michigan it was "Mis-so-la;" with the Illinois tribe it was "Wie-wes-Missuri for a birch bark canoe, and "We-Mis-su-re" for a wooden canoe or canoe fashioned from a log or wood. The name Missuris or Missouri was originally applied by the Indians of Lake Michigan region of the tribe of Indians living west of the Mississippi and along the shore of the Missouri. The term meant, "The people who use wooden canoes." The Lake Michigan Indians used birch bark canoes, as did Marquette and Joilet in their decent of the Wisconsin to the "Conception," while the Indians on the Muddy River used canoes dug out of logs because the birch bark canoes were too frail for the navigation of that turbulent stream.

The first reference to the Missouris tribe of Indians made by a European was by Marquette in a letter written in 1670 to La Mercier, his father superior, as Indians "who use canoes of wood." On Marquette's map appears the name and location of the "Ou Messoure."
